Working With Trevor...

In less than six months I see a greater sense of spirit and efficiency, which is positively impacting everyone in our organization.

– LaVerne Roberts,
Director of Operations
Energizer

Trevor brings the “how” do we get there, supporting us not to get stuck in the day to day rut of operations. We have truly seen a difference in our bottom line.

– Ken Handsaeme -
Owner On Time
Precision Components

Trevor has improved our organization’s results with his deep understanding of Emotional Intelligence and his ability to apply it.

– Eric Berdan, Factory Manager, Nestle

Many people in higher positions feel like they must be superhuman and they cannot show emotions, working with Trevor made me realize that the best leaders are vulnerable.

– Magdalena Domzalska-Pol
Director of Human Resources
Spartanburg Steel Products

Why Book Trevor?

How Emotional Intelligence is the heartbeat of your workforce.

With more than two thirds of employees disengaged, your company is losing profits. Developing Emotional Intelligence skills increases engagement and can give your company up to four times more the returns than you have now. Whether you like it or not, your employee’s feelings cannot be left at the door.

How you show up effects how people feel, which impacts how they engage - and effects everything in your organization including the bottom line. Together we will explore brain science of emotional intelligence in a simple way, so you are ready to take action and leave with tactics to ignite yourself and your team.

You will learn to take those stressful intense workplace moments that stifle motivation and turn them to productive outcomes. Be transformed into the aware leader and respond intentionally instead of reacting in how you process those emotions and feelings.

After 25 plus years in the manufacturing industry, Trevor realized a need for mindfulness in manufacturing. For people looking for ideas to have a better day in their chaos, this is the podcast to listen to!

In each episode Trevor has conversations with experts and leaders from the manufacturing world to gain insight into problems they have encountered and the solutions they reached.
